RESIDENT'S MEETING by Bob Mayo

The resident's meeting was called to order by acting President Jim Gabel at 9:00 am January 4th. Following the Pledge of Allegiance the minutes of the previous meeting were presented and approved along with the Treasurer's report. Kathy Gabel provided a recap of the New Year's Eve party and also stated that the Friday evening dance events would continue at least through the end of January. Tracy from Solstice provided information on several events in the month of January including a Casino School which will be held January 28th at 11:00 am and will cost $10 for anyone interested. The school will provide information on strategy and tips which may help those wanting to improve their gaming skills. Frank Kosar provided an update on the monthly breakfast club events and requested that anybody wishing to attend sign up in the clubhouse so they can be sure of providing enough food for everyone. Connie Riter provided information on several upcoming trips including one planned for March 5th to the Botanical Gardens to see the Chihuly Exhibit. The event will include a dinner at Monte's and will cost $99 per person. More information will be on the board in the clubhouse.

Coleen Kitzman thanked all those who participated in the Christmas mittens project and is looking for donations of food to help families in need in the area. Coleen also said she is available to provide transportation to those needing it for hospital and doctor appointments etc. Dick Smith announced the web site is up and running and Jim Gabel again brought up the need for hosts for the pot luck dinners. This led to a suggestion by Sherry Weinert that the hosts duties needed to be better spelled out and a discussion followed regarding the setup and cleaning duties required, and how this could be accomplished, including a suggestion that someone who has hosted a pot luck could buddy up with a new host and help them learn what needed to be done.

Jim Gabel asked for volunteers to serve on the nominating committee that seek out individuals who would like to serve on the activities organization board. Positions open are for President, Vice President, and two board members at large. Vernita Loveridge, Jackie Bowman, and Steve Davison volunteered to serve as the nominating committee. Jim also asked for volunteers to audit the financial records of the organization and report the findings to the membership. Art Roberts and Carol Rysavy volunteered and will serve as the audit committee. Sherry Weinert volunteered to act as the point of contact for the kitchen, however she asked that when people use the kitchen and see that something is needed they should contact her and let her know.

There was also a lengthy discussion on the duties of the board members and how some people feel that board members are not being utilized effectively. There will be more on this matter down the road.

Meeting was adjourned at 10:25 a.m.

Odds and Ends by Connie Riter

We have 13 coyote coupon books for sale -- and only one month more to sell them in. Please help us sell all of them. Using only 2 coupons from the book can pay for the book. The price is $20 per book. Call me if you would like one.

In the Clubhouse is a basket for putting your used greeting cards, including Christmas cards, in. Just the fronts -- please, and no Hallmark or American Greeting Cards. When I get enough I send them to St. Jude's in Nevada where they recycle them -- making them into new greeting cards which they then sell. You can also put sample bottles of lotions, etc. which you pick up at Hotels in this basket -- These I give to Sunshine Acres where the children use them during the summer for some of their camp outs.

And finally, if you would like a magnetic backed name tag, these I also can order for you. I will need your name, lot number, and from what State or Province you call "home." These are $9 each and I will need the money before I order them.

Activities Organization Elections - By Bob Mayo

It is that time of year again when residents will elect new officers to the activities organization board. Positions open are for President, Vice President and two board members at large. A nominating committee was formed at the January residents meeting. Those members are:

Vernita Loveridge	Lot 153	Ph: 770-547-9184
Jackie Bowman	Lot 102	Ph: 480-983-6534
Steve Davison	Lot 134	Ph: 307-626-4456

Anybody desiring to serve in any of the board positions should contact one of these individuals and let them know of their desire to run for the office.

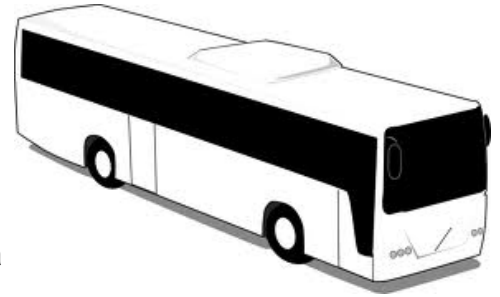

Nominations will be formally presented at the February residents meeting and that time nominations will also be accepted from the floor. Ballots will be provided to all park residents during the month of February and must be returned prior to the start of the March residents meeting. Ballots will be counted and the results announced at the end of that meeting.

Community Worship at Desert Harbor by Pastor Penny Newby

We had an awesome Christmas Service on December 20th when Tom & Ruby Standiford, and our own Hans Nikolas, and Ron Fisher performed Country Gospel Music and ended service with wonderful Christmas carols. We will be having Gospel Echo's back again the first of March. Until then grace us with your presence at our Worship Service Sunday's at 10:30am.

We have been enjoying an interactive Bible Study on Tuesday 6pm in the Craft Room.

Everyone Welcome!

New Year's at Desert Harbor by Midge Drouin

It was party time here at Desert Harbor welcoming in the New Year of 2014. A group of around 50 residents got together for festivities, hors d'oeuvres, music, and dancing. There was plenty of toasting going on with our Red Solo cups games provided by Darwin and Arturo.

Have you ever played bingo with a dance partner? While you're dancing and bingo is called you find another dance partner....it gets everyone on the dance floor...lots of fun. We also played the balloon dance where partners held a blown up balloon between their foreheads and danced until the balloon came loose, which disqualified the couple. The last couple left would win a bottle of wine as their prize. The last game was the newspaper game in which the paper was spread out on the floor and when the music stopped, both partners had to get on the paper without any part of a foot touching the floor. Sounds easy but when after the song stopped, you would have to fold the newspaper in half (needless to say that paper got pretty small for two people to keep their feet on). What a night! Good music, camaraderie, and food was enjoyed by all. By the time midnight came, more than two thirds of our gang was still there to ring in the New Year with a champagne toast. Thanks to all who hosted, set-up, and cleaned up afterwards. Happy New Year everyone.

COMPUTER CORNER

Working with files and folders

Using libraries to access your files and folders
A file is an item that contains information—for example, text or images or music. When opened, a file can look very much like a text document or a picture that you might find on someone's desk or in a filing cabinet. On your computer, files are represented with icons; this makes it easy to recognize a type of file by looking at its icon. Here are some common file icons:

Icons for a few types of files

A folder is a container you can use to store files in. If you had thousands of paper files on your desk, it would be nearly impossible to find any particular file when you needed it. That's why people often store paper files in folders inside a filing cabinet. On your computer, folders work the same way.

Folders can also store other folders. A folder within a folder is usually called a subfolder. You can create any number of subfolders, and each can hold any number of files and additional subfolders.

Using libraries to access your files and folders

When it comes to getting organized, you don't need to start from scratch. You can use libraries, a feature new to this version of Windows, to access your files and folders, and arrange them in different ways. Here's a list of the four default libraries and what they're typically used for:

- Documents library. Use this library to organize and arrange word-processing documents, spreadsheets, presentations, and other text-related files. For more information, see Managing your documents.
By default, files that you move, copy, or save to the Documents library are stored in the My Documents folder.
- Pictures library. Use this library to organize and arrange your digital pictures, whether you get them from your camera, scanner, or in e-mail from other people. For more information, see Managing your pictures.
By default, files that you move, copy, or save to the Pictures library are stored in the My Pictures folder.
- Music library. Use this library to organize and arrange your digital music, such as songs that you rip from an audio CD or that you download from the Internet. For more information, see Managing your music.
By default, files that you move, copy, or save to the Music library are stored in the My Music folder.
- Videos library. Use this library to organize and arrange your videos, such as clips from your digital camera or camcorder, or video files that you download from the Internet. For more information, see Managing your videos.
By default, files that you move, copy, or save to the Videos library are stored in the My Videos folder.

To open the Documents, Pictures, or Music libraries, click the Start button, and then click Documents, Pictures, or Music. you can open common libraries from the Start menu

Desert Harbor Dual Christmas Party by Midge Drouin

How lucky did we get to celebrate not one, but two Christmas parties here at Desert Harbor. Tracey, who works for Solstice as activities director, treated us to goodies of all kinds on Saturday, December 14th, from 4PM to 6PM at our clubhouse. We even had a Charlie Brown Christmas Tree with envelopes hanging from it containing surprises from gift cards to money. We had a group of around 50 people who attended.

Some of our residents stayed after the festivities to play left-right-center, a fun game played with dice. Another group played Texas Hold-em. A good time was had by all. Thank you Tracey!

The following Saturday, on the 21st of December, we had our Pot Luck Christmas Party which was represented by 70 people. Many delicious meats, veggies, potatoes, salads, and dessert of all kinds were served. There was our usual 50/50 drawing (won by Terry Watts) and horse racing for those who stayed to enjoy the rest of the evening.

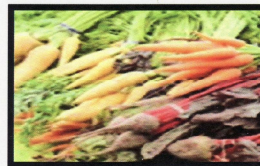

Karen and Jim Stephens wanted everyone to know that their Church is giving out fresh veggies and fruit on the third Saturday of each month. For $10 you can purchase 60 pounds of food!
If interested, just come to the parking lot between 9 am and 1 pm on the third Saturday of the month.

January Ladies Get Acquainted Soup-N-Salad Luncheon

by Jane Boudreau

The January Ladies Get Acquainted Soup-N--Salad Luncheon was held on the 7th with 30 ladies in attendance. Four new residents joined the ladies for the first time. They enjoyed five soups, a wide variety of salads and scrumptious deserts. A fifty/fifty drawing was held with Sherry Weinert winning the pot. A big thank you goes to Kathy Gabel and Midge Drouin for selling the 50/50 tickets.

During the March luncheon the ladies will be entertained with a fashion show with clothing provided by the Dress Barn. Seven models will be selected at the February luncheon. All the ladies of Desert Harbor are invited to the fashion show. Please consider joining us for lunch before the fashion show.

The Ladies Luncheon is held on the first Tuesday of the month in our clubhouse. A sign-up sheet is posted on the bulletin board for you to indicate what you would like to contribute to the luncheon. We look forward to seeing you on February 4th.

DECEMBER LADIES HOLIDAY LUNCHEON

by Jane Boudreau

On December 17th twenty three ladies enjoyed a holiday lunch at Charleston's Restaurant in Mesa. I would classify Charleston's as American Cuisine with many of the ladies enjoying the wonderful Potato Soup, Rubin Sandwiches, Salads and Chicken Tenders. If you ordered one of the salads it was accompanied by a warm croissant.

All those attending want to thank Jean Hanson for the individual gifts she presented to each of us. Thank you Jean for being so thoughtful.

Monthly on the third Tuesday the ladies of Desert Harbor enjoy lunch at one of the many local restaurants. One of the attendees volunteers to select and organize the next month's location. This process has been working well and takes the responsibility off one person to always select and organize the event. A sign-up sheet is posted on the bulletin board. We look forward to seeing you next month.

DICK NIENKARK

We had a total of 3 correct guesses and Jackie Bowman was the earliest person to guess correctly. We did have a correct guess in the suggestion box, but there was no name, date or time on that guess.

Stay tuned in the coming months for a new person in the "Who Am I" series. And when you do make a guess for the suggestion box, we need your name, date and time. When you send your entry in by e-mail, the date and time are right on the e-mail. E-mail guesses should be sent to azhighways@aol.com.

SPECIAL COUNTRY GOSPEL SERVICE by Pastor Penny Newby

On Sunday December 22nd Community Worship had special guests do a wonderful Country Gospel Service. Tom & Ruby Standiford performed several songs they wrote as well as some old time favorites. 51 residents attended the service. The program rounded out with our own Ron Fisher on the drums and a great time of Christmas Carols by Hans Nikolas as we all sang along. We are excited to have Gospel Echoes come back in the near future.

RECYCLED GREETING CARDS WANTED

Do you have used greeting cards? There is a basket in the clubhouse that you can put them in. Only the fronts are used. Connie Riter will be sure the cards are sent to St. Jude's in Nevada. Thank you.

HEALTH ARTICLE by Midge Drouin

International Travel with Your Pet

With the holidays over and summer not yet here, now is a good time to think about advanced planning for the upcoming trip you and your pet will be taking. If you haven't thought about taking a trip with your pet, think again. Millions of Americans travel with their pets both locally and internationally and according to an August 2012 TripAdvisor.com survey, 49% of the pet owning public have plans to travel with their pets.

Get some ID

Entrance into many countries requires your pet to have a permanent form of identification. The best form is a microchip placed by your veterinarian. Even if you don't plan to travel anytime soon, every pet should have a microchip to help get them back home if they are lost. If your pet already has a microchip, double check and make sure the registration information is paid and up to date. Inaccurate information in the microchip database prevents animal rescue groups from contacting you when they find your pet.

Do your homework

Research the pet entry requirements for your destination. Every country is different. As a start, review the information provided by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Their website contains both general information and some country-specific information about pet travel. You should also locate information on pet travel on the website of the country you plan to visit. Although you and your pet are simply going on vacation, the information about pet entry requirements may be found under import/export regulations. If you cannot find the information or you need further clarification, call the country's consulate or embassy. The United States Department of State has a listing.

If you find conflicting information about entry requirements, the destination country holds the trump card, so rely on their website and embassy.

Pack the paper

Not newspaper, but your pet's papers. According to TripAdvisor.com, only 45% of pet owners travel with health certificates and rabies documentation. I find this surprising. Keeping your pet's vaccinations up to date and keeping their vaccination certificates on file will help streamline obtaining critical travel documents. Bring copies with you and ask your veterinarian for a summary of your pet's medical conditions and medications.

Important reminders

- Start early. Some countries require your pet to have a special rabies blood test performed. Only certain laboratories perform this test and timing is critical.
- Even though you may have started preparing early for your trip, certain travel documents must be signed only days before departure. Allow time in your schedule to finalize any of your pet's travel documents.
- Some countries require your pet's health papers be signed by a USDA accredited veterinarian. Not all veterinarians are accredited, so check with your veterinarian well in advance of your trip to make sure you have an appointment with one who can sign the travel papers.

It's important to remember that it's not just international travel that has a lot of paperwork. If you're planning to go to Hawaii then plan for a lot of paperwork and a lot of time. Since Hawaii has no rabies they are extremely strict on rabies titers and vaccinations. It can take six months plus to get a pet prepared to go to Hawaii. Any travel you plan to do, international or just a quick flight, do your homework to be prepared

Book Review by Bob Mayo

Command and Control: Nuclear Weapons, the Damascus Accident and the Illusion of Safety.

Author: Eric Schlosser

This book is a work of non-fiction. It accurately presents the dilemma faced by policy makers as well as military leaders of this country since the dawn of the nuclear age with the atomic test at Trinity Site in New Mexico and the subsequent use of atomic weapons at Hiroshima and Nagasaki which finally brought an end to WWII. The basic issue is one of how to insure that these weapons, a single one of which may have the capacity to wipe out an entire city as well as causing possibly hundreds of thousands of casualties, cannot be stolen, sabotaged, used without proper authorization or detonated inadvertently as a result of an accident. The author provides a detailed history of the efforts of many individuals and agencies along with the problems associated with resolving these issues, due in part to the sometimes competing requirements of the scientists who design the weapons and the military which are the ones who would actually be called upon to deliver them. It also gives a history with many details of major accidents/incidents from the 1940's onward involving nuclear weapons or material.

Interwoven throughout this history is the almost minute by minute account of a major accident involving a Titan II missile with its associated W53 nuclear warhead which occurred outside of Damascus, Arkansas in September 1980. The Titan II was on alert at launch complex 374-7 near Damascus when a maintenance person dropped a socket from a socket wrench which fell about 80 feet and pierced the skin of the first stage fuel tank causing a leak. The leak eventually led to an explosion in the silo which destroyed the complex and hurled the warhead about 100 feet before it came to rest. There was no nuclear detonation and in this instance no release of radiation or of radioactive material. The author accurately recounts the actions of many individuals both at the site and those not at the scene to try to prevent an explosion and to contain the damage should one occur. It describes the actions both good and bad, of the individuals involved in the decision making process along with the often heroic actions of those who tried to prevent the explosion including one airman who died as a result of his injuries.

This is a well researched book and definitely worth reading for anybody having an interest in nuclear weapons and their control and use.
